

PLIQO Case

What is it?

A case for your suit, but not a suitcase

Why should I pack it?

One for the business traveller. This nifty case folds your garment to the size of a laptop bag (16 x 12 x 3in) and is classified by all major airlines as such, so you can bring it in addition to hand luggage. It also has a multitude of extra pockets and compartments to squirrel other items away in. This would be just as useful for a cyclist commuter as a business flyer – anyone who doesn't want to travel in smart attire but needs to have it crease-free at the other end.
