

THE WEEK

The best of...life on the go

L.L. Bean Rapid River Sling Pack

"You don't have to be a trout fisher to appreciate a technical pack with this many compartments," and a sling pack is better than a backpack for people who want one-handed access to the things they carry.

$99, lbean.com

Source: OutsideOnline.com

SOI Purse Light

Every woman knows a handbag can become a black hole at the worst time. So make room for this German-designed device: a thin, palm-size disc that lights up when it senses hand motion and shuts off automatically after 10 seconds.

$30, uncommongoods.com

Source: Mashable.com

Pliqo Carry On

This "devilishly clever" garment bag allows a suit to be folded down to the size of a laptop case—and in such a way that the suit emerges "with nary a crease in sight." The Pliqo can even fit in a backpack.

$215, pliqobag.com

Source: HowToSpendIt.com

Flight 001 5-in-1 Travel Adapter

World travelers will love this "ingenious" adapter, whose five interlocking plugs will cover your power needs in 150 countries (with India a rare exception). The color-coding eliminates all guesswork.

$35, flight001.com

Source: NYMag.com

Bagsmart Peri Jewelry Roll

Rings, necklaces, bracelets, and earrings can all travel together in Bagsmart's clever, wallet-style jewelry roll. Made of quilted cotton, it's 9 inches wide and comes in black, navy, pink, or teal.

$19, bagsmart.com

Source: TheInventory.com

Pliqo Carry On

This "devilishly clever" garment bag allows a suit to be folded down to the size of a laptop case—and in such a way that the suit emerges "with nary a crease in sight." The Pliqo can even fit in a backpack. $215, pliqobag.com Source: HowToSpendIt.com